

Join a new, non-partisan campaign to push our provincial government and make Ontario fully accessible to over 1.8 million people with disabilities.

We need you to

Picture Our Barriers

It's as easy as 1... 2... 3!

1. Document it!

Be a barrier-busting citizen journalist! When you find an accessibility barrier in your community, an #AODAFail, document it. Examples include anything that would block a person with a physical, mental, sensory, communication, mental health, intellectual, or learning disability. Take a picture or a video of the barrier. Or simply get all the details. Be a citizen journalist by writing down information about what the barrier is and where you encounter it.

2. Share it!

Use Twitter, Facebook, Youtube or Instagram to share each #AODAFail you find with your Member of the Ontario Legislature (MPP) and local news media. If you don't use social media, send an email.

3. Tag it!*

Mark your message with the hashtag #AODAFail. And tag or send it to Ontario's political leaders and journalists. On Twitter, tag Premier @Kathleen_Wynne, Minister @BradDuguid, your local MPP, and the media.

Over 1.8 million Ontarians with a disability face unfair accessibility barriers each day. It is taking too long for promises to be kept as required by the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA). We need to work together to get the government to roll up its sleeves, show strong leadership, and fulfill its duty to lead Ontario to become fully disability-accessible by 2025.
